COUNTING THE CASH.

MR. GILLILAN LEAVES ALL STRAIGHT IN THE TREASURY.

An Officer Who Ascribes the Secret of His Success to the Fact That He Never Got the Big Head-Matters of Gossip in the Federal Capital—General News, Etc.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The count of the cash in the treasury was completed to-day. Everything was counted once by the committee appointed by the secretary of the treasury, and was then turned over to the representatives of Treasury Wyman, and again counted. The books of the treasury now remain to be examined. While ex-Treasurer Gillilan was pretty sure of the result, he stated before his departure that until a report was made he would not feel perfectly easy, as he took the treasurership and funds just as his predecessor had left them, and the length of time which had elapsed since a count had been made, rendered it possible that there might have occurred some errors or an oversight. Treasurer Wyman is very much pleased with the result, and will feel better in his new office to know that he starts off with a clean balance sheet. In spite of Mr. Gillilan's many good points to-day, Mr. Wyman said that the manner of his leaving the government service was characteristic. Some days before the time appointed for his resignation to take effect, it was intimated to him that the employees in the office intended to present him with a handsome floral tribute as a mark of their love and respect. He instantly objected to any such display of affection, and said that, while he thanked those whose good intentions had probably prompted such a suggestion, he had seen too much of that kind of advertising in the public service. What had once been significant in showing the cordial relations between subordinates and officials had now degenerated into a system which all felt bound to take part in, without regard to the character of those retiring. He would think just as kindly, therefore, of his old friends if this form of farewell was omitted. Many visitors had on different occasions, after his resignation, expressed their intention of calling on him before he left, to bid him goodbye. This was especially the case with a number of newspaper men, whose respect and friendship Mr. Gillilan had won during many years of public service. He evaded what he confidently told Mr. Wyman to do, by an embarrassing and touching scene to him, by remaining away from his desk the last three days of his term, and finally went through the form of turning the place over to his successor after the regular office hours, when nearly all had gone home.

Mr. Wyman was asked how he accounted for Mr. Gillilan's great popularity. "Well," said the new treasurer, "I will have to answer that as he answered me when I asked him for the secret. He said: 'I never allowed myself to get the big head. It kills many a man in Washington, and there are few that come here who don't catch the disease.'"

FUTURE OF THE COLORED RACE.

The Views of Fred Douglass on the Subject Exposed.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—One of the principal features of the Emancipation day celebration here was a meeting to-night at the Congregational church, at which Fred Douglass was the orator. He discussed the present condition and the future of the negro race in this country, politically and socially. With regard to the latter branch of the subject he said:

"What is to be the future of the colored people of this country? Three different solutions to this difficult problem have been given and adopted by different classes of the American people. One is colonization in Africa, extinction through poverty, disease and death; third, assimilation and unification with the great body of the American people. I do not look for colonization either in or outside of the United States. Africa is too far off, even if we desired to go there, which we do not. Removal to any of the territories is out of the question. We have no business to put ourselves before the bayonets of the white race. We have seen the fate of the Indian. As to extinction, the prospect in that direction has been greatly increased by the negro's failure, where we saw Whitehead and a boy. [They were here but in the witness box and identified by Lynch.] Whitehead put him in the way of procuring India rubber bags in which to carry nitro-glycerine. Witness confirmed all the evidence given at the hearing last Thursday as to Gallager having a small box in the steamer, and finding it contained the nitro-glycerine and wanted to kill himself. Soon after Taylor became quiet, and Dixon came to Safford and sent a telegram to the governor of Tennessee, asking for information and a description of Taylor, being still impressed that the latter's confession was not genuine. By Wednesday morning Taylor had become sober. He took Mr. Dixon to the barn and related his story of the night before, making a full confession of the murder. He said he had no peace since his hand had become dyed in the blood of the innocent officers; that the hand had haunted him day and night that life was a burden to him. He plead in extenuation of the act that he was young and was persuaded into its commission by his brothers. After the escape of the murderers they spent five weeks on Lookout mountain roaming about and keeping out of sight of the officers or others who might betray them, and with nothing to eat but raw meat. They were pursued by bloodhounds. They then separated, the one now under arrest going to Atlanta, Georgia, and afterwards to Arkansas and Missouri. He and his brother John afterwards came together in Missouri. In a region uninhabited and swamps 22 miles from the nearest physician, John died of flux, amid suffering and misery. Al made the coffin for his brother and buried him alone. Two weeks before John's death, the other brother, Robert, had been killed at Lebanon, Mo., by the sheriff, while resisting arrest.

A FLIGHT AND RECAPTURE.

After making this confession on Wednesday morning, Taylor went to Dixon and said that he would pay him what was due him for work he would leave and take one more chance at life, remarking: "You can give me away if you want to; I do not care much." Mr. Dixon gave him his money and told him to go, saying: "Do the best you can for yourself."

Dixon then came to Emporia and gave information of the affair to the officers. Meantime he received a reply to his telegram, which substantiated Taylor's story so far as to induce Dixon and the officers to take steps for immediate arrest. Dixon was sworn in as a deputy, and in company with Deputy Sheriff Kramer took a freight train for the west, halting at several points to the railroads agent to watch the trains and giving them a description of Taylor. At Safford the officers received information that Taylor had passed Peabody on a freight train going west, and received information at Peabody that the criminal was in custody. At Newton there was a "speck of war" at first about delivering Taylor to the officers, but the trouble was adjusted, and Dixon and Kramer had the object of their search in charge. They brought him to Emporia, where he was at once tried for the offense. Governor Bates stated that as the legislature appropriated but $2,000 for the arrest of fugitives from justice, and $1,000 had already been paid out, there was now in the treasury but $900 for this purpose, and consequently the reward offered could not be paid at present.

A STATUE TO HENRY.

To the West—The Signal Service—The Star Route Train.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The statue of the late Professor Henry, first secretary and director of the Smithsonian institute, which has been erected on the Smithsonian grounds, was unveiled to drift with appropriate ceremony in presence of a large concourse of spectators, including many persons distinguished in the social, political, literary and scientific world. Chief Justice Waite unveiled the statue, and President Noah Porter, of Yale college, delivered an oration on the life and character of Professor Henry.

General Hazen to-day telegraphed to the weather observers in the West Indies that after the 30th inst., no more reports on cyclones can be made owing to the failure of congress to make appropriations for the bureau and stations will be abandoned.

In the star route trial to-day Mr. Teller began summing up for the government. It is at the time the explosion occurred in Glasgow, with causing which he is charged.

W. H. is No. 17.

Secretary Frelinghuysen to-day exchanged with the Spanish minister ratifications of the trade mark and extradition treaties between the United States and Spain.

Seven hundred recruits are now on their way to the regiments in Arizona, New Mexico and the department of Columbia, with a view to the possible necessities of an Indian campaign.

A FALSE WHITE MAN.

Quality of Leading the Indians into Outrages Against the Whites.

TUCSON, Arizona, April 19.—A dispatch from Hermosillo, Mexico, says a detachment of troops which followed the Apaches from San Carlos Ures had several running fights with the Indians from Ures to Gambies, and claimed to have killed nearly the whole band. After losing the trail of the rest, some of the soldiers visited Gambies, where a soldier was in the campaign last year recognized a white man who was with the Indians at that time acting as chief. In one of the fights this soldier was wounded and left on the field for dead, but was conscious. From his description of the Apache chief it was thought to be L. N. Streeter, formerly a United States agent and a most desperate character. For more than two years he has been the leader of a band of Apaches. His capture proves that he soldier was not mistaken in the man. Governor Flores ordered him to be brought to Hermosillo, but it is to be alive when the officer reaches the troops. A dispatch from Bowie says that the Tombstone rangers crossed the railroad track to-day at Dragoon on a fresh trail, leading to San Carlos. General Crook has ordered three hundred scouts to be in readiness for a long scout into the Sierra Madres.

THE DYNAMITE PLOT REVEALED.

Norman Turns Informer, and Narrates the Whole Story from New York to Manchester.

LONDON, April 19.—Norman, Dalton, Wilson, Dr. Gallagher, Bernard, Gallagher, Currie, Austberg and Whitehead, the eight men arrested on charge of being members of the dynamite conspiracy, were again brought in to Bow street police court this morning. It was noticed as a significant fact that Norman was conveyed to a room under the name of John Presnall, and last Tuesday went to Emporia with his employer, imbibed freely of liquor, so that when Mr. Dixon got ready to go home in his wagon, Presnall declined to accompany him, but said he would go to Plymouth on the train. He had some difficulty with the conductor, and on his arrival at Plymouth went through the village, shooting off his revolver and creating something of a sensation. When Mr. Dixon returned to him he found Taylor, alias Presnall, in a drunken stupor, lying upon some oarsacks, and that he had attempted, or pretended to attempt, to shoot himself. Arriving at the house Taylor sent for Mrs. Dixon, saying that he wanted to talk to her. She sent word that she did not have time to talk with him. It was then he fired four shots at his head, and was then discovered to be the crown of his hat. J. A. Dixon, brother of T. N. succeeded, after some trouble, in getting the revolver away from Taylor. Taylor was evidently stunned by the shots, for he labored under the impression for some minutes that he had killed himself and committed suicide.

THE INFORMER'S NARRATION.

Norman, on being called to the stand testified that his real name was William Joseph Lynch, and he was born of Irish parents in the state of New York. He swore that he worked in Ossining last at a coach builder in Brooklyn. At that time he joined a secret society in New York, the object of which was to free Ireland by force. The members were numbered by numbers. The hall in which he was sworn was situated on the corner of Second and the Bowery. There were other associated clubs. The managers of the clubs were known as district members. They were not known to each other by their names. Members were selected to go on missions. Men

Fort Gaines, Georgia.

THE LOST BY THE WYLKY.

Special to The Constitution.

ATLANTA, April 19.—The body of one of the deck hands of the ill-fated steamer Wylky was found yesterday drifting ashore about 150 yards below the bridge, and was taken in charge by the city authorities and properly buried. Search is being made for others. Dr. Gunn, one of the coolest and most observant of the passengers, is confident that if a complete list could be made it would show that 16 to 18 persons lost their lives by the disaster. He remembers several passengers that have not been reported, and believes they have lost.

Jonesboro, Georgia.

ILLNESS OF MR. CRAWFORD.

Special to The Constitution.

JONESBORO, April 19.—W. H. Crawford is continuing to improve and will soon be on his feet again. Mrs. Oscar McConnell and Miss Lula Strange are very sick, and serious apprehensions are entertained for them. Sickness is very prevalent in our town now, which is a very unusual thing.

POLITICALLY QUIET.

Politically we are very quiet, and expect to be so during the spring. We however, prefer McDaniels to Bacon, and since Boynton could not get the nomination we are glad Bacon did not.

Augusta, Georgia.

MILL DIVIDENDS.

Special to The Constitution.

ATLANTA, April 19.—The annual meeting of the Georgia Mill and Manufacturing Association was held to-night. The same officers were elected as last year. The annual report showed the profits of the two mills, the Graniteville and the Vancluse, to be $166,000, notwithstanding the unfavorable year just past. The company made 21 per cent net on the capital, after paying all necessary expenses and $21,000 interest.

The Schuetzenfest.

The Richmond Hussars won the first prize in the shooting at the Allen schuetzenfest to-night. The English contingent won the prize in the rising contest. The fest was very largely attended. Judge Honey instructed the grand jury to look into the matter of illegal voting.

The State School Convention.

The present indications are that there will be a very large attendance at the state Sunday school convention.

Griffin, Georgia.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

Special to The Constitution.

GRIFFIN, April 19.—The Baptist convention convened here this morning, and organized by electing Chancellor P. H. Mell as moderator. This body of theologians represent the tone and strength of the Baptist denomination in Georgia. Dr. Battle, president of Mercer university, preached the introductory sermon this morning at eleven o'clock. Those who heard it pronounced it a masterly effort, in style pleasing, attractive, electrifying. We rarely have more eloquent divines enlightened us.

A Lively April Shower.

Quite a lively April shower, accompanied with thunder and lightning, came down upon us this afternoon.

The Spalding Greys.

The Spalding Greys' annual target practice was held to day. The red plume for the best shot was won by Policeman McElroy.

Cuthbert, Georgia.

COTTON ON FIRE.

Special to The Constitution.

CUTHBERT, April 19.—A fire broke out in one of our cotton warehouses yesterday which would have resulted in a destructive burning had it not promptly discovered and quickly extinguished. It was caused by the ignition of a match which was run over the trucks. This is the first fire since the purchase of our new steamer. It had a stream on the flames in nine minutes after the alarm was sounded. Between 15 and 20 bales of cotton were more or less injured.

Pronounced Insane.

Mr. Godfrey, son of the Rev. J. E. Godfrey, of this county, was last Saturday pronounced insane by a jury. He has been employed for some time in Savannah by a Central railroad, in a position of responsibility. His condition is supposed to have been aggravated by overwork. The father of this unfortunate gentleman was formerly a citizen of Atlanta, and is extensively acquainted throughout the state.

Colonels, Georgia.

AN IMPRESSIVE WEDDING.

Special to The Constitution.

ATLANTA, April 19.—The Episcopal church of this city this morning was the scene of the most brilliant wedding of the season. At its altar Alderman James P. Kyle and Miss Adelaide Swift were made one by the beautiful and impressive service of that church, Rev. W. C. Hunter officiating. The attendants were Miss Annie Hamburg, of Boston; Miss J. M. Orr; Miss Lizzie Swain, and Charles G. Abercrombie, of Montgomery; Miss Lizzie Mickell, of Clayton street furniture man, and the pernicious condition of the bird, and having the milk of human kindness, etc., got a ladder and went to the roof and liberated the little fellow, greatly to the delight of the tender hearted ladies on Hancock avenue.

DEATH OF COLONEL MITCHELL.

Special to The Constitution.

EUFALIA, April 19.—Colonel Benjamin E. Mitchell died in his residence in this city about 10 o'clock night before last, leaving a wife and three children. The cause of his death was a hurt received by being thrown from his buggy Monday evening. He was driving a sprited horse and accidentally struck a post and violently thrown to the ground, striking on his head. On going home his wife observed an unnatural look in his eyes. He soon fell asleep in a chair and was finally induced to go to bed, and not long after his retirement his deep breathing plainly indicated his serious condition, and in a short time was dead.

OF CONSUMPTION.

Mr. Charles M. Williams died here last Friday night of consumption, leaving a wife and child. He married Miss Clifford Spain, of Macon, about three years ago.

Fire in CHEWALLA.

John Hancock lost his home in Hoboken, a village situated on the Chewalla from here, and a large part of his stock of groceries by fire last night; partly insured.

THE GUARDIAN GUARDS.

The Quitman Guards, one of the oldest military companies of the state, will be out in a new and handsome uniform in a few days. All our people, including Lump Ponder and the roan mule, are fully satisfied with the nomination of McDaniels, and will give him a hearty support.

A FATHER'S LOSS.

Hon. W. A. Turner has again had the misfortune to lose a little child, the third one within a few years.

PROHIBITION A DEAD LETTER.

Prohibition seems to be a dead letter in Monroe, in spite of the local law, as whisky is openly sold in several localities, both in town and country.

Athens, Georgia.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Special to The Constitution.

ATHENS, April 19.—Willie Crawford, a young man who had a narrow escape from drowning in the Ocean.

Captain John C. Mattox, father of Mrs. M. B. McElroy, is dead.

NOTICE OF LYNNING.

Judge Pottle has been notified that if Jones, the wife murderer of Oglethorpe, is not tried this week he will be lynched. Jones has also written the judge asking that the guard at jail be increased.

THE DOCTORS' BANQUET.

Patrick Fallon, an Irishman from New York, who has been here a few months, was found dead in bed at a lodging house last night. The coroner's verdict was heart disease.

BURGLARY AND ROBBERY.

H. F. Henshaw, corner of Price and Farm streets, last night, was entered by burglars, who riddled a trunk containing money and papers of a loan association, stock, and forty dollars in cash, a bank book showing a deposit of $900. The trunk was found this morning near the canal broken open and empty.

OLD BONDS RADED IN.

Considerable excitement was occasioned this morning by the report that the Georgia war bonds of 1862, signed by Governor Brown were on the market and bringing $100 a bond. General overhauling of old trunks and boxes, hunting up bonds took place. One old woman in Yamacraw fish out several thousand dollar's worth, which had been given her as souvenirs by parties who had died.

ARTESIAN WATER.

The town council is removing all the old piping and putting up the new hydrants recently ordered to distribute the artesian water along the streets.

INTERESTING TO ANGLERS.

How the President Catches His Fly—Chandler's Old Way.

The president wore a flannel shirt and a broad-brimmed hat, and began to fish with his fly, says a correspondent in Florida. He believed that a black bass would seize a yellow hackle fly, and, with the zeal of a fisherman, he attached one to his line. Then he fixed his rod. Meanwhile, Chandler, in a lined duster and a helmet cap, cautiously leading his gun for an alligator, and Mr. Muller was fixing his fly. When the boat reached the Kissimmee river, the president, impatient to cast his fly, very carefully got down into a dug out, and a few minutes later was gently casting the yellow hackle. Soon he had a bite. He played with the fish for five minutes, with a stern, business-like expression on his face, and then landed a six-pound black bass. That settled the business for the president. No snakes were in sight, the alligators did not bother, and McCullenger's insects were not troublesome. The air, though cool, was bracing, and the president forgot his irritation of the morning. Unhinging the black bass with the smile of an expert, he soon had the yellow hackle out again, and before it was dark had landed more fish, fat and big, than he ever caught in a day before.

By and by it became too dark to fish, and the party returned to the steamer Okeechobee.

Here, at the stern, in the breezy night air, two beds had been fitted up, one for the president and the other for Secretary Chandler. In the gangway Mr. Miller and Secretary Phillips had a long talk about the president's health, and the president said:

"I am well, thank you, and I hope to be well again."

"I am well, thank you, and I hope to be well again."

"I am well, thank you, and I hope to be well again."

THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 20, 1883.

INDICATIONS for the South and mid-Atlantic states, light rains and partly cloudy, south to west winds, slight fall followed by rising barometer, or slight fall in temperature.

THE election of Dr. Calhoun to the presidency of the Georgia medical convention is not only a deserved recognition of a true-born physician, but reflects credit on the body which can command the services of such a member.

LITTLE Billy Chandler never handled a gun in his life, but he can handle an electoral vote with agility enough to surprise a native. Savannah, however, has to share the fate of all cities and take the evil mixed with the good, especially when the latter is of so mild a type as Mr. Arthur.

THE fragrance of the early peach pervaded the air yesterday, when such fruit kings as Parnell, Cunningham and Cary were in the city. They seemed to unite in the opinion that the late frosts had materially damaged the crop and that we would have to wait until next year for the appearance of Pharaoh's fat kine.

It may interest the trembling millmen of New England to learn that not only can the southern manufacturers undersell them in the markets of the west, but that they can make money in so doing. The Graniteville and Vancleave factories have cleared twenty-one per cent clear on this business during last year.

THE cow law is coming to the fore again as a topic of discussion in Atlanta. There are those who have flower yards to protect, and there are those who think the house would not look homely without a cow chewing her cud at the front gate. Between them all they promise to have a lively interchange of hydrophobia among the dogs.

Thus far this epizootic of hydrophobia has had no serious results; no person has been bitten by any of the rabid dogs; but if the disease continues to increase and spread, as now seems to be likely, it is difficult to see how people are to protect themselves. In view of this, the communication of Dr. J. H. Logan, printed in yesterday's CONSTITUTION, becomes of importance to the public. There may be occasions when even the simple remedies which Dr. Logan suggests are not within immediate reach. In that case, the best thing for the person bitten to do is to promptly apply the lips to the wound and extract the virus in that way.

The remedy for the dogs is with the legislature, and, indirectly, that enlightened body is responsible for any serious result of the present epizootic character of the disease. The worthless, vagabond curs that are now wandering over the state, in couples and in droves, endangering the lives of men, women and children and destroying the sheep, ought to be put down by taxation. There is no man too poor to pay a tax on a valuable dog provided he owns one, and the result of such a tax would be to destroy all the worthless dogs in the state.

We know very well that the legislature will do nothing of the sort; we know very well that the species of demagogery which has heretofore prevented the levying of a tax on dogs is as prevalent now as ever; but that shall not prevent us from calling the attention of the Peagreen element to its duty.

Let our uneasy contemporaries compose themselves. The democratic campaign in 1884 will be fought and won on the issue of revision and reduction of taxation, and this is the tariff issue. The congressional campaigns, in which the democrats were so generally victorious, were fought and won on that issue; there is no other issue in which the people are so vitally interested. There may be democrats like Mr. Sam Randall, who will not care to follow the democratic party to victory on that line, but where one democrat will halt by the wayside a hundred republicans will cut loose from their corrupt organization. If the democratic party cannot win on the tariff issue, it cannot win at all.

THE PROSPECTS OF BUSINESS.

Confidence in the future and activity at the present moment begin to characterize trade in this country. Trade begins to respond at last to last year's good crop; and no matter how closely we analyze the situation, the prospects of business for a year to come depends almost wholly upon the crops that are in the ground or soon will be. The spring has been backward, and the condition of winter wheat is reported low in some localities; but even the gloomiest crop prophets admit that the crop may turn out well. Up to the 10th of this month very little rain had fallen in California and Oregon, but the rains that have come since that time render it certain that the wheat crop of the Pacific slope will exceed that of 1882. The wheat acreage in Minnesota and Dakota has been largely increased, and the crop reports from Texas, Missouri and Kansas are very favorable. The Cincinnati Enquirer, after reviewing the situation, thinks that the crop of 1882-83 will be fully as large as the crop of the previous year—or 525,000,000 bushels. The New York World says "the weather thus far this spring has made the crop prospects most favorable. The acreage planted will probably be larger this year than ever before, while in Europe only two-thirds of an average harvest is looked for under the most favorable circumstances by high authorities there. The United States will, unless all signs fail, have a ready market for breadstuffs, cotton and other domestic products for a year to come, and this being the case it is not surprising that a confident feeling as to the future exists in business circles." Referring to an estimated reduction of 20 per cent in the crop of winter wheat—an estimate of March which is not now accepted by any one—the Boston Herald thinks that even such a reduction in the winter wheat crop would be fully compensated by the increased area sown to spring wheat in the spring wheat regions of the northwest.

We have quoted enough to show the best opinion about the winter wheat crop. There is no basis for expecting a wheat crop less than last year's. If this view of the wheat crop is sustained by the weather, and if in addition the corn and cotton crops later on promise well, all the talk about hard times and panics and similar disasters may as well be dismissed; for a second good crop year means general prosperity, including of course many forms of speculative and perhaps ill-advised nature.

The belief that the growing crops will turn out well has already revived business and restored confidence. This movement will be lasting if the crops are good, and the business situation will steadily improve. The railroad earnings were never larger; the export trade is heavy, and pending the tariff changes the imports are light; the crops of Europe can not well be up to an average on account of decreased acreage; immigration is almost at its maximum, and money is easy. The capitalists of Europe are becoming uneasy over their own securities on account of socialistic movements, and American securities are again sought for. The volume of trade, outside of the iron and steel industries, is increasing, and altogether there are no indications of trouble, always provided the crop reports continue to be satisfactory. We have simply to abstain from gloomy predictions that the facts do not warrant, and wait until nature solves the problem.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

MRS. JENNY LINTON GOLDSMITH, is 60 years old, appears 50, and lives in London.

ROBERT C. WINTHROP has just been re-elected president of the Massachusetts Historical society for the twenty-sixth time.

THE lay delegates to the next Episcopal convention of Indiana will cast their ballots for Bishop Garrett, now missionary bishop of Texas.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS is soon to marry a young woman who is described as "nearly white."

Mr. Douglass is sixty-six years old and receives large fees recorder of the district of Columbia.

MR. WOLSELEY's principal holdings now are Western Union, $30,000,000; Missouri Pacific, $10,000,000; Washab Pacific, $10,000,000; Denver and Rio Grande, $10,000,000, the balance of his $100,000,000 being invested in bonds and real estate.

QUEEN VICTORIA has a second personal servant in Lohlein, who went to England with the prince consort as valet de chambre, and remained to serve the Queen. Lohlein was the only servant in the royal household with whom the late John Brown never attempted to interfere.

SIR STAFFORD NORTHCOOTE recently attended the funeral of the head carpenter on his estate at Upton Pye. Sir Stafford, who met the estate at the late hour, came into the church and placed a beautiful wreath on the coffin of the dead man, who had lived in the parish for twenty-four years.

SIX GEORGE JESSEL originally intended to qualify as a Jewish rabbi, in which determination he was most supported by his mother, his father being anxious that he should go into trade. He was an ardent student of the Talmud in his youth, and even in his later years remained a constant reader of the Midrash and the Talmach, from which he gleaned much information reflected in his pronouncements. The great jewel of his library are the three volumes of "The Talmud" given him by a Jew in name, but always fasted on the Day of Atonement (remaining for twenty-four hours without nourishment), and was a regular attendant at the synagogue.

The original name of the family was Aaron.

THE PRINCE OF WALES' last new fancy is Mrs. Chappell, the niece of the well-known music publisher of Bond street. She is said to be a beautiful girl and deserving of a happier fate than that of being admired by the Prince. Olive Logan writes, "I am sorry to say that the Prince's preferences shown to young ladies by his royal master are to be a serious social mishap." Good girlie Miss Chambers and Miss Chappell are in no academic danger; nevertheless there is an ominous will linger when a woman is known to have been bitten by a rabid dog.

THE PRINCE OF WALES' present interest is the prince, an irreconcileable girl, but especially that she is fed like a vulture. She knows of a young Scotch girl who recently came to London on a visit to some relatives, and soon after her arrival met the prince of Wales at a ball which he gave in honor of the Scotch girls. The next day sent her a magnificent bouquet, with his compliments. Her relatives were alarmed at the affair that they sent the girl straight back to that scoundrel, out of harm's way.

THE SOUTHERN INTELLIGENCE.

LEXINGTON, Ky., claims to have 30,000 inhabitants.

FARMERS in Kentucky are generally behind with their work.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Mississippi, has raised $8,000 for a canning factory.

BRACKETT, Texas, has a cock pit and they fight chickens on Sunday.

THE WALNUT TUMBLER SUPPLY OF BARRETT COUNTY, KY., IS ABOUT EXHAUSTED.

WE KNOW VERY WELL THAT THE LEGISLATURE WILL DO NOTHING OF THE SORT; WE KNOW VERY WELL THAT THE SPECIES OF DEMOGOGERY WHICH HAS HERETOFORE PREVENTED THE LEVYING OF A TAX ON DOGS IS AS PREVALENT NOW AS EVER; BUT THAT SHALL NOT PREVENT US FROM CALLING THE ATTENTION OF THE PEAGREEN ELEMENT TO ITS DUTY.

IT WILL BE SOMETIME BEFORE THE POLITICAL DUDES WILL HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY OF TAKING A WHACK AT THE PEOPLE OF GEORGIA. HERETOFORE, WHEN THE DUDES MADE THEIR FEELIE LORRIES, THEY HAVE BEEN PLEASED TO ALIUD TO THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AS THE ATLANTA RING. WHAT THEY WILL CALL IT HEREAFTER REMAINS TO BE SEEN.

THE SOUTHERN NEWSPAPERS ARE SERIOUSLY DISCUSSING THE QUESTION WHETHER ITALY MEANS TO TAKE BACK NICE AND SAVOY. THIS SHOWS THAT THERE IS SOME BASIS FOR THE REMARK THAT THE BRAIN OF THE AVERAGE WESTERN EDITOR IS SO LONG AND HEAVY THAT IT DRAGS THE HEAVY WEIGHT OF THE STATE.

The Florida Ship Canal.

The Florida legislature has granted a charter to the Florida ship canal company, composed among others of the following named persons: Townsend

Cox, William Fullerton, John H. Fay, L. M. Law-

son, S. T. Meyer, Michael Jacobs and David Mc-

Adam, of New York city; John C. Brown, of Ten-

W. Jones and V. G. Gruber, of Virginia; Benjamin

F. Butler, of Massachusetts; John P. Jones, of Newark, and W. M. Manning, of Ohio. The incorporation articles command their attention on or between the bay of Fernandina and that of St. Augustine, both points affording safe harbor, and the port of Mexico, terminating at any point that they may select between Tampa Bay and Apalachee, and are visited with all the usual rights necessary to the construction of the enterprise. To operate the most work the state of Florida has granted the company in perpetuity the right of way not only for the construction of the canal, but also with one-half a mile in width for the main line. It is also given the right to rights, such as the construction of tranship canals and telegraph lines from any lake or river inter-

NEW YORK, April 19.—Share speculation opened irregular, but with prices in the main a fraction below yesterday's closing quotations. Hannibal and St. Jo preferred, however, was 2½ per cent higher. Immediately after the opening Northwest and Hannibal and St. Jo preferred each dropped 1½ per cent, after which the market became strong, and about 11 o'clock recorded an advance of ¾ to 1½ per cent, in which Northwest, Union Pacific and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy were the leading features. From then till noon the market was weak, and prices fell off by ¼ to ½ per cent, Louisville and Nashville, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western ½ per cent, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba, New Jersey Central ½, and the remainder of the ½ to 1. In the final dealings St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba recovered 2 per cent, and the remainder of the list a fraction. The market closed firm, but with the closing figures ½ to 2½ per cent below yesterday's, the latter, St. Louis and Nashville. Transactions aggregated 450,000 shares.

THE CUTTON MARKET

CONSTITUTION OFFICE

Atlanta, April 19, 1883.

New York—Futures closed firm this morning at higher prices, and quotations were pressed upwards during the forenoon. Afterwards the tone grew more steady, and the months yielded to a slight decline. At the close, however, a reaction occurred which revealed the highest prices. Spots likewise went up 1½¢: middling 10½¢.

Net receipts for day: family 55,000 bushels against 29,500 bushels last year; exports 71,181 bushels; last year 62,430 bushels; stock 751,023 bushels; last year 678,080 bushels.

Below we give the opening and closing quotations of cotton futures to-day:

THROUGH THE CITY.

A GLIMPSE OF CURRENT EVENTS IN ATLANTA.

The Day's Doings in Public Offices—Who Record of the Owners, the Railroads and the Hotels—Real Estate Operations—Gossip of All Kinds—Items of General Interest, Etc.

The architects and contractors predict a heavy summer business.

PEACHTREE street looks as pretty as a picture in its new spring house.

There has been quite a lull in real estate transactions during the present week.

FOUR colored military companies flourish in Atlanta. They have frequent fares.

A GANG of laborers was busy repairing the street car track on Decatur street yesterday.

The live stock trade season is about over, but not quite a big trade was done in Atlanta yesterday.

YESTERDAY was a disagreeable day, and "sell pitch" was given a big swing in the Atlanta saloons.

The young men of Atlanta indignantly deny that a genuine dude is to be found in all their number.

TWO new street car lines are spoken of and the names of prominent capitalists are associated with each.

UMBRELLAS, rubber coats and gum shoes were in demand yesterday, and they were thick on the streets.

CEMETERY lots in the old part of Oakland are in great demand and very few are to be had at any price.

Two public sales of real estate were brought to an untimely end yesterday afternoon by the heavy shower.

The public schools are in a good condition, and the work on the school buildings is being pushed vigorously forward.

The colored excursionist is complaining that spring lingers so long in winter's lap and the pink lemonade maker is also sad.

LITERARY clubs are numerous in the city, and others are to be organized. They are bringing out amateur talent amazingly.

The market house question is agitated very little, though everybody is ready to agree with you that Atlanta ought to have a general market.

SARAH VESTERS, an aged negro woman, died yesterday morning at her home on Simpson street. She was supposed to be about ninety years of age.

A SWITCH engine struck a dray at Loyd street crossing yesterday and the dray was taken away from the scene of the disaster in small pieces.

SEVERAL young men in the city claim to have horses that can trot inside of 2:40, but a well regulated watch is usually fatal to such assertions.

A DANCING master in the city has some pupils three years old who dance fancy steps and amuse their home folks with such dancing.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cobb died yesterday morning at their home near Sculley's paper mills, a distance of five miles from the city.

DRY goods merchants and tailors say Atlanta has gradually called for better lines of goods until now the metropolitan affairs afford nothing too fine for her.

The executive mansion is undergoing some needed repairs, which will be completed in time for the reception of Governor McDaniel after his inauguration in May.

SUMMER resort circulars are pouring in on city folks. They have beautiful pictures of cool haunts and gorgeous rhetoric telling of the charms that surround them.

The base ball talent of Atlanta will be called together one day next week for the purpose of attempting the organization of a first-class base ball club for the present season.

A RICH Atlanta merchant walks in to his business from Edgewood, though he holds a season ticket on the railroad and owns a turnout. He says the walk is worth more to him than his horses.

THE Governor's Horse Guards turned out again yesterday evening. Despite the heavy rain there was a goodly number present when Orderly Smith called the roll, but the rain abbreviate the exercises very much.

ATLANTA future speculators who get weary of waiting on the news from the markets sometimes "crack" or get up a pool and guess at the cotton crop. The average speculator must be amazed at any cost.

THE negro laborer was struck by a fellow laborer near the Georgia Pacific depot Wednesday evening was still alive last night, but his condition was exceedingly critical, and his death may occur at any moment.

A HEAVY two horse dray struck a buggy on Peachtree street, near Wheat yesterday. Both rear wheels of the buggy were torn off, and thereby Mr. Samuel Foster was damaged to the extent of one hundred dollars.

ATLANTA by her recent city directory claims a population of 36,000. If the claim is near the truth it places Augusta ahead of Savannah, and the second city in state. Well informed and moderate estimators put Atlanta's present population over 50,000.

GIRLS and women are steadily gaining favor in Atlanta for clerical work. They give up idleness, assume every jarance and as a result they are getting better pay than those used to though they are not yet paid anything like as well as boys or men.

THE suggestion that a general turnout of boys and youths be made a part of the processions on Memorial Day seems to meet with very general favor. Next Thursday Atlanta will have a considerable number of boys in the procession from the Capitol to Oakland cemetery.

MR. HORACE MURKIN's residence on Victoria street, was entered by a burglar yesterday morning while the family was breakfasting. After the thief had taken his departure his visit was made known by the absence of a silver watch, a coat, and some pieces of jewelry.

THE "Dalton" and the "Kennesaw," two switch engines of the Western and Atlantic rail road, had a slight collision near Broad street bridge about noon yesterday. The Dalton jumped the track and the Kennesaw, the "Kenne," was slightly damaged. After considerable trouble, the engine was placed on the track.

A PARTY of English capitals have organized a fruit canning factory at East Point. They have rented buildings and are preparing to erect new buildings this spring. They have already contracted with many farmers in that section for all of their fruits and vegetables. It is to be hoped that this industry will prosper and succeed.

SEVERAL ladies of the city are circulating a petition asking the Atlanta merchants and other business men to agree to close their stores and other places of business at 6:30 p.m. every day for one week, beginning Friday, April 20th. In order to allow themselves and their employees time to attend the religious meetings now held in various churches of the city.

After an illness of about six weeks, Mr. John Blount, Jr., died at his residence, corner of Bowdon and Walton streets, at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains will be sent to August by the early morning train of to-day for interment. Mr. Blount was one of Atlanta's earliest settlers, having come here when Atlanta was a mere village. He died at the advanced age of seventy-six years.

THE Young Men's Christian association of Atlanta, has a set of nicely furnished rooms over the corner of Walton and Forsyth streets. There are a library and reading room, a parlor and a chapel. The rooms are open every day and night and are used by all the members and friends of the association. The Sunday afternoon exercises are always especially interesting.

YESTERDAY morning, Inspector B. H. Laine, of the post office department, telegraphed Inspector Frey, from Tampa, Florida, that he had arrested Assistant Postmaster Wallace Cathcart, of Keyesville, Florida, on a charge of rifling numerous registered and valuable letters. Cathcart was taken to jail and lodged in jail to await a preliminary hearing before a commissioner. It is not yet known what amount Cathcart has embezzled, but it is thought that will amount up considerably.

A DISPATCH was received in this city yesterday announcing the death of Mr. Mike Poy, which occurred in New Orleans night before last. The deceased left Atlanta some six months ago and has since that time been doing well in the city where his death occurred. His bereaved mother, living on the Longfellow street, has requested that the remains be forwarded to Atlanta at once and are expected to arrive to-morrow.

BON FAULKNER, a negro boy about eighteen years of age, was seriously injured yesterday by falling from the side of a box car near the Bell street crossing. The boy was standing on the ladder on the side of the car which he had been pushing along the track by an engine and when at the top of the ladder attempted to jump off and fell. The engine was moving at a good pace, and the negro's left leg was dislocated, and his right leg broken near the ankle.

The engine was moving at a good pace, and the negro's left leg was dislocated, and his right leg broken near the ankle.

AN hour 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning an alarm of fire was turned in from box 31, corner Whitehall and Broderick streets, which proved to be a false alarm. The cause of the alarm was due to the fact the son of the owner of the tending Mrs. Kruger's school noticed a lot of matches burning in the school house and rushed out and gave the alarm. Another alarm was turned out from the same place. The cause of which is caused by the burning out of a chimney of the residence of Miss Cath, corner Whitehall and Formwalt streets.

GENERAL BEN LE FEVRE is on his first visit to the south. He passed through Atlanta Saturday and was in Macon at the firemen's tournament Monday. He is greatly pleased with the south and the people, by over 7,000 majority, but says he will not allow the use of his name in connection with the democratic nomination for governor. Dr. W. M. Cunningham, a native of Georgia, who had the honor of defeating Congressman Schulte in a district considered hopelessly republican, has gone to Florida to attend the trials of Bryan and will probably stop in Atlanta on their return.

THE happiest man in the city yesterday was Rev. Mr. Jacobson, the popular pastor of the Hebrew Benevolent Congregation. He is proud and delighted to preside now in one of the handsomest church buildings in the city. The hand-some church building, which cost $10,000 two months and the main hall having been tastefully frescoed and otherwise decorated, will again be open for public worship this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Divine services will henceforth be regularly held as heretofore, every Friday evening and Saturday morning. The Passover service in commemoration of the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt will begin Saturday evening next, will be duly observed by the Israelites of this city, with interesting divine services in the temple, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock and Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

THE BIG CASES.

The Superior Court Does a Big Day's Work—Murder and Assault to Rape.

YESTERDAY was a big day in the superior court. When the court met at half past eight, the jury in the case of Henry Johnson, returned a verdict of guilty of murder and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the court. A motion for a new trial in the case will be made and argued.

The case of the state against Jules Soule, formerly a member of the Musical Union band, was taken up. Soule was accused of having committed a very serious offense. He committed several breaches of trust and was several times arrested, but succeeded in getting out of the law's reach, until he joined the United States army. A requisition was made on the governor of Florida for Soule, but the officer in charge of the post at St. Augustine refused to surrender him. A committee of the state, headed by Governor Stephens and President Arthur, which resulted in an order being issued for Soule to be delivered to the authorities of Georgia, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was brought back to Atlanta and remained in jail until yesterday, when his trial began. He was charged with larceny after trust delegated, and was convicted and sentenced to two years. There will be a trial for a new trial.

The court after Robert Harold's case went into the trial of the case of Robert Harold, charged with assault with intent to rape on a little girl of Mrs. Anna G. Miller, widow of W. L. Miller, charged that Harold got the little girl into a room in her mother's house and endeavored to commit an outrage upon her. He was acquitted.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Sixteenth Annual Meeting—Reports from Twenty-Two Schools and Interesting Exercises.

YESTERDAY the adjourned annual meeting and mass convention of the Fulton county Sunday-school association was held at the hall of the Young Men's Christian association. Owing to the absence of President John H. James, First Vice-President T. S. Moore was called to the chair. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. E. Q. Fuller of the Marietta street Methodist church. Twenty-three Sunday-schools were represented. The vice-presidents submitted reports showing how the schools were progressing and the progress of the Sunday school cause was progressing both in the city and the surrounding country. The past year has evidently been one of great fruitfulness.

THE resolution of five was appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year. While the committee was out preparing its report a general experience was had, in which a general discussion of the work of the schools was had, and reported the results of their labors and observations. All the forty-two Sunday schools enrolled as members of the association seem to be in a position to make a good record for their size and efficiency.

HAPPILY MARRIED.

The Union of Mr. Charles H. Behre to Miss Emily H. Schumann.

Last evening many invited friends assembled at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Schumann, 151 South Peachtree street, to witness the consummation of the marriage vows of Miss Emily H. Schumann and Mr. Charles H. Behre, of Charleston, South Carolina. The cozy parlor was beautifully decorated with nature's rarest flowers. In the center of the parlor suspended from the ceiling was a panel of evergreens, honeysuckles, and orange blossoms. The fire screen bore the motto, "Willkommen," and altogether the parlor presented a beautiful picture. Promptly at 7 o'clock the attendants entered, closely followed by the groom and his charming bride. The attendants entered, closely followed by the groom and his charming bride.

OPINIONS

Expressed by prominent gentlemen about the watch-making exhibition.

I would rather be doing what you are engaged in, than be president of the United States. It is by such industries as these, that the south is becoming independent.

MAJOR CAMPBELL WALLACE.

I am astonished by the extent of your machinery and machinery of course would have appreciated the importance of your enterprise had I not seen it with my own eyes, certainly no one can have any doubt now about the manufacture of watches here. You deserve every success.

MR. L. L. MCCLESKEY.

Your machinery is wonderful. I had no idea such a thing was going on in Atlanta. I see you are opening out a new avenue for the employment of our ladies. This enterprise ought to receive a strong hold. Industry here is a revelation to me, and I hope you will succeed.

MR. MARSHALL DE GRAFFENREID.

It is a big thing for our city.

MR. PHIL DODD.

It is a much more extensive industry than I expected to see, and I hope you will have continued success.

MR. WALTER A. TAYLOR.

The industry is twice as large as I expected to see, and you have most wonderful machinery.

MR. F. G. HANCOCK.

Our factory will be open for public inspection every day this week, and we will be pleased to exhibit watch manufacture with improved machinery.

HERNEY KROUSE, Dictator.

A fire at Austell. Yesterday about 12 o'clock a fire occurred at Austell, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, which destroyed the smokehouse of Mr. Wade Morley. The loss was small.

THE OLD BOOK STORE.

It is a well known fact to the literary world that the demand for old, rare books is now unprecedented. I offer to the citizens of Georgia an opportunity to purchase never before presented. Have just purchased from Wilkes county the finest private library in Georgia, 4,300 volumes. With the addition of three smaller libraries added to my stock of 40,000 volumes, gives buyers a selection never before presented in the south. An inspection solicited. School books a specialty. Catalogue free. Respectfully.

out the slightest pain. Don't fail to see him at once.

Bishop Quintard, of Tennessee, is in the city. He has many friends in Atlanta. During his stay he will be present at the opera house and will be near the site of the opera house and which was burned by the federal troops. The bishop did such good service to the people of Atlanta in those dark days as endeared him to them very much.

The New Clocks.

Mr. J. P. Vreeland, employed by the E. Howard clock and watch manufactory, yesterday evening, finished the erection of the new city clock and put it in motion. The clock strikes with a clear, peculiar tone that may be easily heard from all parts of the city and readily distinguished from any other bell. The clock made in the best manner; the wheels are hard hammered brass, the arbor and pinions are fine cast steel, and the support and frame work are all iron. The striking part is a repeater, rendering it impossible for it to strike incorrectly. The clock is in excellent condition, being held by four large screws, and by a simple contrivance the dial works are separated from the main clock, so that the hands can be set from the inside of the tower without any difficulty. The dials will be illuminated within the next few days. It is said to be the finest timepiece in Georgia.

Combined Street Car Line.

Yesterday the old Whitehall street cars were discontinued and the West End cars began their new route. They go out Whitehall street as far as Humpshire street, where passengers are let out. They cross the Central and East Tennessee, and Georgia railroads by a footbridge, and find the cars will go all the way through. The travel on the old Whitehall line and that on the Peters street line is about equal. The cars are crowded, and it is said that was so crowded that the mules found it hard to start at all to move the heavy grades on Whitehall street. The largest cars owned by the company are used on the combined line, and they are due at the foot of Whitehall street every fifteen minutes.

An Important Musical Event.

Professor Joseph Hart Denck, the celebrated piano virtuoso, who arrived here last Monday night, will be given a benefit in DeGivie's opera house next Wednesday evening. Some of the best musical talent in Atlanta will be present. Mrs. Anna Simon Werner, will take part in the entertainment, as will also Professor Schulz and his son, Amadeo. Professor Fred. Wedemeyer, the clarinetist, will also be one of the performers. Professor Denck is one of the most finished pianists in the country.
